What is the Cape Doctor Levy?

The Cape Doctor Levy is a special levy imposed on all property owners in the City of Cape Town, South Africa. The levy is used to fund the maintenance and operation of the city's water and sanitation infrastructure.

The levy is calculated based on the value of the property, and is payable annually. The revenue generated from the levy is used to fund a variety of projects, including:

- The maintenance and repair of water and sanitation infrastructure
- The construction of new water and sanitation infrastructure
- The development of water and sanitation policies
- The education of the public about water and sanitation issues

Why is the Cape Doctor Levy necessary?

The Cape Doctor Levy is necessary to ensure that the City of Cape Town has the financial resources to maintain and operate its water and sanitation infrastructure. This infrastructure is essential for the health and well-being of the city's residents.

Without the levy, the city would not be able to afford to maintain its water and sanitation infrastructure. This would lead to a decline in the quality of water and sanitation services, which could have a negative impact on the health of the city's residents.

How is the Cape Doctor Levy calculated?

The Cape Doctor Levy is calculated based on the value of the property. The levy is divided into two components:

- A basic levy, which is payable by all property owners
- A differential levy, which is payable by property owners in certain areas of the city

The basic levy is calculated as a percentage of the property's value. The differential levy is calculated as a fixed amount per square meter of land.
